

Welcome to the Kiro - Getting Started from Build to Operate workshop! In this hands-on session, you'll explore the capabilities of Kiro, an AI-powered assistant designed to accelerate software development and cloud operations.

You'll experience firsthand how AI assistance can boost productivity and help you build, deploy, and operate applications more efficiently. From setting up Kiro in your development environment to completing a real-world coding challenge, this workshop provides a comprehensive journey through the development lifecycle with AI assistance.

---

Next